Wową!

I totally forgot to tell you one very important thing when we last met in Warszawa. Forgive me; you remember in what a stupid condition I was.

The fact is that during that corporate "aggregation trip" we may have proceeded a little further towards the meaning and sense of life.

I'm writing in English, just because when it happened we were speaking English with the guys. It actually happened on June, 10. But I like the declared date better.

Scene of action

Faraway highway toilet stop somewhere in Zadupie, Poland: gas station, shop, forest. Garbage bins with the inscription FUKS. Sunny afternoon, 06.06.2006.

Our plight is: we - Dmytro and Lauris - are completely without Polish money and during the whole trip we have not found a single kantor (currency exchange). We underslept and overdrank last night. The third friend of ours - Tamás Acs The Eye does have zlotys.

As we have no money, we are in no hurry to drag ourselves outside the bus. We slowly go for a piddle to the nearest bushes. Slowly go back to the parking lot. Suddenly Lauris Lietavietis shouts.

Act 1

Lauris Lietavietis: Where is Tamás?! He has the money and I want something tasty, beautiful and...

Lauris Lietavietis thinks.

Dmytro Lysiuk: Big.

Lauris Lietavietis: Yes! Big! Something big, beautiful and tasty!

The two go inside the shop, find Tamás Acs, give him orders to buy ice-cream, pastry and Cola, and wait outside.

Lauris Lietavietis (after a while of pensive meditation): I've just found the sense of my life. I want something big, beautiful and tasty.

A girl walks by towards the toilet.

Lauris Lietavietis (to the girl): Do you have something big, beautiful and tasty?

The girl walks away bearing her arrogant smile towards the toilet. She does not speak a word. Dmytro does.

big beautiful and tasty

Dmytro Lysiuk: Her arse.

The two observe her arse.

A minute later Tamás Acs brings big beautiful tasty things. All eat.

Dmytro Lysiuk (to Lauris Lietavietis): What would you say if a girl came up to you and said "I want something big, beautiful and tasty"?

Lauris Lietavietis takes a moment to think, stretches his right skywards, points his index finger into an invisible spot in the heavens and speaks.

Lauris Lietavietis: Here I am!!!

End of story.
